REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant has claimed uniquely distinct features in the instant invention which are not found in the prior art, either singularly or in combination.

According to one exemplary embodiment, consumable resource 15 comprises printing material configured to be deposited upon a print medium. For example, in one embodiment, the printing material may comprise a toner. In another embodiment, the printing material may comprise a fluid such as an ink or liquid wax. In still another embodiment, resource 15 may comprise a print medium upon which the print material is deposited or which includes image-forming material that is selectively activated to form an image. For example, print medium may comprise cellulose-based material, polymeric-based material or a material including mixtures thereof. The medium may have various sizes and shapes. The medium may be in sheet form or roll form.

[0013] In still other embodiments, resource 15 may comprise an actual component of device 12 or a printing element of device 12 that wears or is degraded at a rate faster than the remaining components of device 12 such that the component is designed to be replaced or refurbished prior to completion of the life expectancy of device 12. For example, in one embodiment, resource 15 may comprise a photoconductive drum that, in many instances, wears out by abrasion before exhaustion of toner in an electrophotographic type image-forming device. In another embodiment, resource 15 may comprise a consumable power source such as a battery.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
